PART A

NORTH DISTRICT OVERVIEW

The North District includes the area within the City limits north of the Canadian Pacific main railway line, with the exception of the North Central Community. This geographic area also includes the Paul Dojack Youth Center. This District is divided into three zones; the Northwest, the Northeast and the West zone. These zones are further sub-divided into smaller atoms. Officers assigned to the North District are assigned specific zones and atoms in order to enhance geographic ownership and provide more effective responses to calls for service and community concerns.

The Community Services Division North District is currently overseen by one Inspector and one Staff Sergeant who are responsible for North District members within four patrol shifts, the Traffic Safety Unit (TSU), a Crime Stoppers/Community Programs Officer, an Early Intervention and Referral Program Officer and a School Engagement Officer¹.

North District Community Crime Report

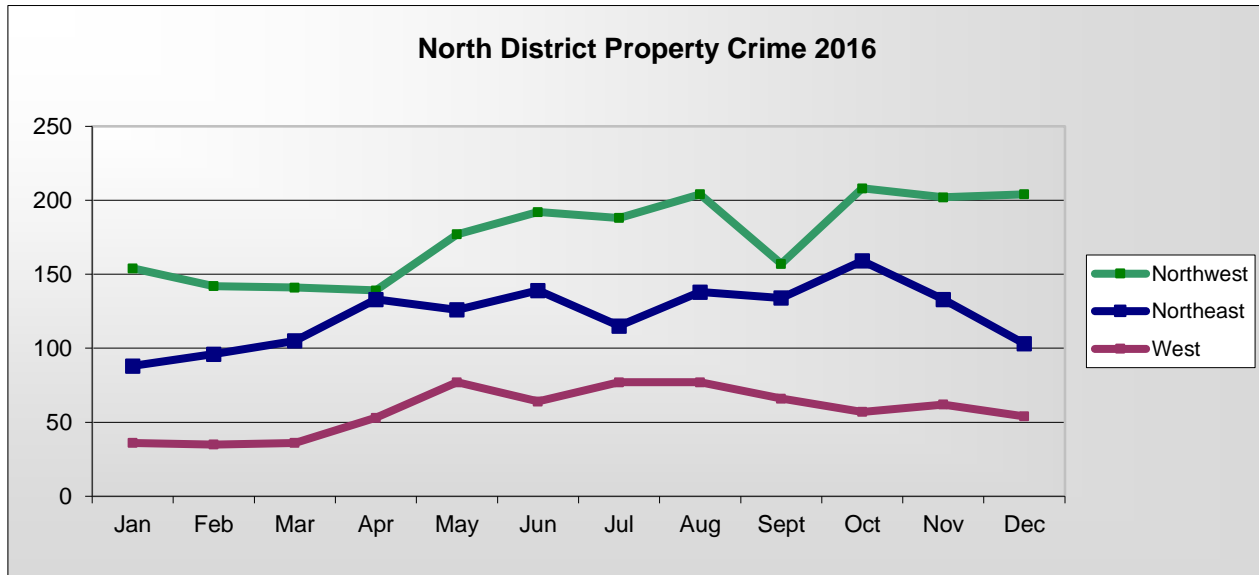

The Regina Police Service Tactical Analysts report on crime trends and collect data. This information is reported daily and is used to identify hot spots of crime in the city. This information is critical and provides the District S/Sgt.'s with a valuable opportunity to effectively direct resources and develop timely strategies. The S/Sgt provides front-line officers with Proactive Policing hot spots and targets based on this information. The Regina Police Service produces a community crime report through our computer (IEIS) system. This report allows us to compare reported crimes against property and crimes against person for the North District. It also allows us to compare North District reported crimes to the remainder of the city.

Crimes Against Property

Property crime in the North District in 2016 accounted for 32.7% of all reported property crime in the City of Regina; that is a decrease of about 1 percent from 2015. Of the three zones in the North District, the Northwest zone reported the highest number of events, accounting for 49.4% of all violations in the district. The Northeast zone reported 34.3% of all violations in the district, while the West zone had the fewest number of reported violations at 16.2%. The month of October reported the highest number of violations with 424 incidents or 9.9%, and the month of February reported the lowest at 273 violations or 6.3% of reports for the year.

¹ School Engagement Officer is a position funded by the School Boards on a two year trial. Position was implemented January 2015 and ends in September of 2017.

TRAFFIC SAFETY UNIT

In 2016, the Traffic Safety Unit (TSU) remained on a 12 hour shift configuration which consisted of day and afternoon shifts. The TSU works collectively to investigate motor vehicle collisions, provide traffic enforcement, and develop and implement selective traffic safety projects.

In 2016, Regina Police Service members issued 25,204 Summary Offence traffic tickets. The Traffic Safety Unit wrote over half of those tickets issuing 15,535.

In 2016, the TSU once again partnered with the City of Regina on several traffic projects, including the continuation of the “Overdrive Program” along with the “Intersection Enforcement Program”. These traffic initiatives focused enforcement efforts towards identified high volume traffic areas, including high collision intersections, and areas around social drinking establishments.

Provincially, the TSU contributed to the Selective Traffic Enforcement Program (S.T.E.P.) by sending members to identified locations throughout the province. TSU also provided resources to the Driving Without Impairment (DWI) program, which is a joint program with SGI. Officers provide a 2-hour presentation Saturday mornings as part of their regular duties. This involved 24 dates in 2016.

Automated Speed Enforcement - 2016

2016 was the second year of Automated Speed Enforcement in the City of Regina. SGI began the pilot project in March of 2015. There are two automated speed enforcement cameras that move to various locations in the City. There is always one in a school zone and one on the Ring Road. A change in driver behaviour has been noticed in relation to speeds especially on Ring Road. In 2015, there were over 27000 tickets issued (over a ten month period). The 2016 numbers were down -42% from 2015.

Impaired Driving

Throughout 2016, members of our TSU continued to focus on impaired drivers. In 2016, 564 incidents of impaired driving were investigated by the Regina Police Service resulting in charges.

CRIME STOPPERS

In 2016, Regina Crime Stoppers received 1088 tips. This was the highest number of tips received in the history of Regina Crime Stoppers. Crime Stoppers continues to create re-enactments and air the “Crime of the Week” every Monday on CTV.

Crime Stoppers also initiated the Leaders Creating Future Leaders Program. This initiative gives 25 children the opportunity to hear from different community leaders on a monthly basis. The RPS Chief of Police was one of the initial presenters in the program.

THE REGINA INTERSECTORAL PARTNERSHIP (TRiP)

TRiP is a collaborative partnership aimed at supporting children who are exhibiting behavior that puts them at risk for criminal involvement or are at increased risk for victimization. Through early identification of risk factors and targeted intervention, it is hoped that challenges faced by referred children and their families are addressed, and that their potential is optimized. TRiP includes involvement from Regina Public and Catholic Schools, the Ministries of Justice and Social Services, the Regina Qu'Appelle Health Regions Child and Youth Services, Mental Health and Addiction Services and the Regina Police Service.

In 2016, the TRiP program received 78 referrals for 11UI (11 and under initiative) and 57 for twelve & up, for a total of 135 referrals. As of December 31st, they had 102 children active in the programs. In 2016, TRiP held 576 case conferences with families. Case conferences are held every 4 to 8 weeks as required based on an identified level of risk. Throughout 2016, the TRiP School Engagement Officer (SEO) was involved with 55 clients, for varying lengths of time and in different capacities. SEO involvement is individualized and varies in intensity. A large part of the overall SEO case management plan is spent engaging with and creating incentives for children to stay in and remain actively involved in school. Currently the SEO is working with 17 youth.

TRiP was also involved in a number of exciting programs in 2016 including: Cop Shop, the Leaders Creating Future Leaders Program with Regina Crime Stoppers and Conexus Credit Union, and site visits with the Muskoday Intervention Circle. An independent auditor also conducted a 16-month evaluation of the TRiP program. Those results are expected in early 2017.

PART A

SOUTH DISTRICT OVERVIEW

The Community Service Division South District encompasses the area south of Victoria Avenue, east of Winnipeg Street and west of Albert Street, to the City limits. This area is equivalent to 166 square kilometers. The patrol district is broken down into 4 main zones those being South, Southeast, Southwest, and East. The geographical area that these patrol zones encompass continues to grow in the south with the Harbour Landing development and southeast with the Creeks, Creek Side, and the Greens on Gardiner developments. The South District is the fastest growing area in the city.

These zones are further sub-divided into smaller atoms. Officers assigned to the South District are assigned specific zones and atoms in order to enhance geographic ownership and provide a more effective response to calls for service and community concerns.

The Community Services Division (CSD) South District is overseen by one Inspector and one Staff Sergeant who are responsible for the oversight of South District members within four patrol shifts, the School Resource Program, the University Liaison Officer, and the Investigative Response Unit.

South District Community Crime Report

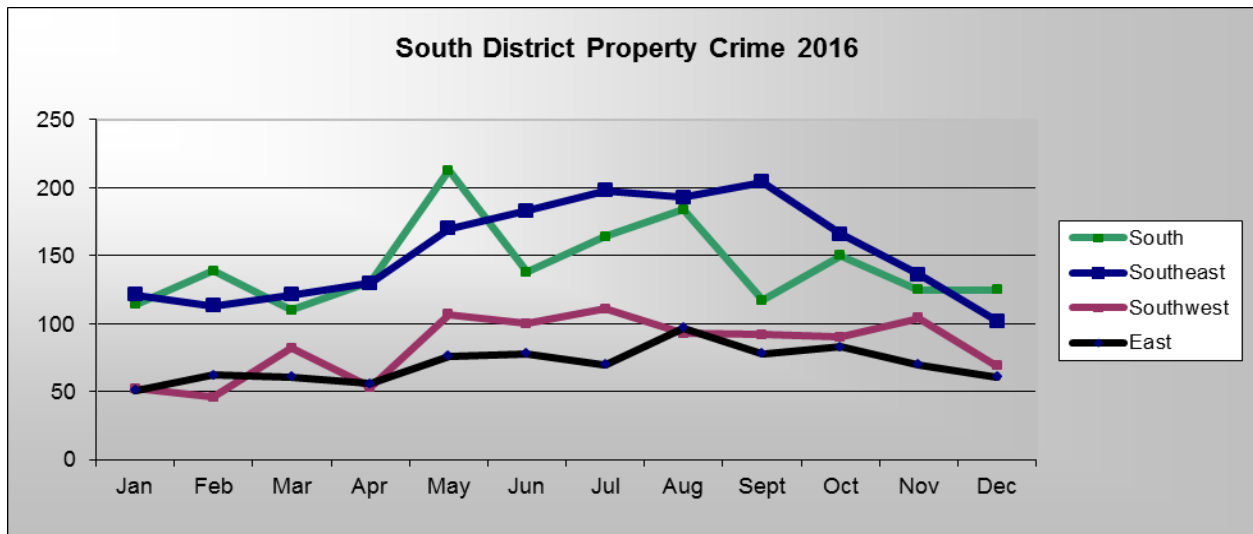

The Regina Police Service has two Tactical Analysts who report on crime trends and collect data. This information is reported daily and is used to identify hot spots of crime in the City. INVESTIGATIVE RESPONSE UNIT (IRU)

Operation

The Investigative Response Unit was managed by the South District S/Sgt. and Inspector. Although IRU is managed within the South District of CSD, they are available for city-wide initiatives where emerging crime trends have been identified. The CSD Inspectors, North and Central Districts are also able to utilize the unit to respond to emerging crime trends. In 2016, many areas outside of CSD required support from the IRU and submitted requests to the South District.

Respond to Crime Trends

The Investigative Response Unit continued to work with all firearms investigations generated from front-line calls for service and intelligence reports. The firearm statistics are showing an increase in our community and this unit is responding by investigating files, seizing weapons and laying charges.

Assist in Apprehending Unlawfully at Large (UAL) Offenders

IRU was able to assist in the recently vacated Community Corrections Liaison Officer (CCLO) position by monitoring and locating offenders at large. Some of these offenders, when released, were identified as being at higher risk to reoffend. The IRU monitored and conducted investigations to find high-risk offenders who were wanted. They arrested a total of 50 UAL offenders that were a higher risk to reoffend in the community.

Participation and Assisting in Other Investigations/Initiatives

IRU also spent the majority of their time bridging or linking the front-line CSD investigations to CID investigators. This process has created efficiencies with linking a front line shift to another front-line shift. It has also created effective links from the front-line to Criminal Investigation Division (CID) investigators on complex investigations that normally start with patrol officers and end with detectives.

SCHOOL RESOURCE OFFICER (SRO) PROGRAM

2016 Year in Review (School Academic Year 2015-2016)

There are 13 School Resource Officers for 14 high schools, 75 elementary schools and approximately 10 alternate schools and programs. One of the 13 officers is dedicated to teaching a Law, Public Safety and Security (LPSS) class during a full afternoon at Campus Regina Public.

The officers assigned to this section completed:

555 Presentations, a decrease of 9.4% from 2015

Topics included bullying, cyber-bullying, gangs, drugs, law, role of police, lockdown procedures, safety drills and a number of others which included the use of 33 different PowerPoint presentations.

432 Mediations, an increase of 17.8% from 2015

These mediations included school yard bullying, fights/assaults and cyber bullying etc. By addressing the problems that exist amongst the students through mediation and not proceeding criminally seems to be the most effective solution in the majority of the cases.

244 Lockdown Drills, an increase of 43% from 2015

229 Event-participation, a decrease of 25% from 2015

Events include meetings, sporting events, rallies, assemblies, serving Christmas dinners, school dances, School Police Academy, Showcase, and Cop-Shop.

Other events and training School Resource Officers participated in were:

- The Violent Risk Threat Assessment Training (VRTA)
- Red Cross the Day of Pink Rally and Day of Pink events- bullying awareness campaign
- The National Association of School Resource Officers Conference (NASRO)
- The annual SGI Water Bottle Drive: SROs and school safety patrol students run a “stop check” in 4 school zones and students thank drivers for driving safely in their school zones and give the occupants of the vehicle an RPS/SGI water bottle.
- Positive Ticketing – Teen drivers partnered with SGI, SROs, and Traffic Officers and stopped teen drivers in 4 high school zones and provided a positive ticketing for not driving while using a cell phone. In addition to the positive ticketing, various novelty items were also given out including Tim Horton’s gift cards.
- Annual Rapid Deployment Training in partnership with the Saskatchewan Police College.
- Student Police Academy: 50 Grade 12 students from across Regina spent the day at the Regina Police Service to learn more about a career in policing.
- SRO Blanket Exercise: In keeping with Truth and Reconciliation the SROs attended a full-day workshop at the Regina Public School Board. The exercise used blankets to represent the lands of what is now called Canada, and the distinct cultures and nations which live on those lands to this day. Participants represent the First Peoples. When they move onto the blankets, they are taken back in time to the arrival of the Europeans. A narrator works with the participants to read a script while the exercise goes through the history of treaty-making, colonization and resistance that resulted in the nation today we call Canada. This was a very emotional event and a highly educational experience.

SRO Parks Project

The 2016 Summer Park Patrol was policed by School Resource Officers throughout the summer months. The Park Patrol Officers worked 35 days over June, July and August. There was an average of 6 officers assigned for every day. The officers rode bikes in the day light hours and were in patrol cars in the evening. They were provided locations of “hot spots” for reported crime and to direct attention to these areas.

During the Park Project officers also attended planned events such as:

- Science Center – Bike Safety
- Regina Housing Authority Day Camps
- Street Culture – drop in play groups
- Early Learning Centers
- RCMP Sunset Ceremonies
- Regina Exhibition Family Fun Zone
- Teddy Bear Clinic
- Regency and Greer Court Day Camp

UNIVERSITY OF REGINA LIAISON

The Regina Police Service has appointed a Post-Secondary Resource Officer (the “PRO”) to address policing-related matters at the University. The PRO is under the direction of the South District. The PRO provides assistance and guidance to the administration, faculty and students of the University of Regina on policing, and community issues and concerns. This position is not generally intended to be a response role but an advisory role. In emergencies, the PRO is a key component to response strategies as a link between the two organizations. The PRO is not intended to replace the role and resources of Campus Security but to work collaboratively with Campus Security to enhance its role and effectiveness.

The goals of the PRO Program are generally as follows:

- To provide Campus Security and University administrators, staff and students with a resource in the areas of criminal law and police work in the community;
- To provide information to students on criminal law, the work of the police, and the possible consequences of criminal behavior;
- To develop positive attitudes toward police officers and Campus Security through a positive working relationship beneficial to both parties.
- To provide Regina Police Service members with an understanding of the culture and challenges in a student/academic environment;
- To reduce crime on University property and in the community;
- To help to create a safe post-secondary environment on the University campuses;

-To promote an understanding of Canadian policing to foreign students.

POLICE AND CRISIS TEAM (PACT)

PACT strives to improve police/crisis team responses to vulnerable people experiencing a mental illness and/or addiction concern. PACT will create and maintain a network between, the Regina Police Service and the Regina Qu'Appelle Health Region. This network also includes a number of community partners to maintain an environment of trust and support to produce better outcomes for people in crisis.

PACT has dedicated a significant amount of time educating the community and front line officers on the program's function and creating efficiencies. In 2016 PACT has given 24 presentations, attended 36 meetings, 13 training opportunities, and 8 special events.

PACT statistics for 2016 will be released to the public at a later date to be determined.

Central District

PART A

CENTRAL DISTRICT OVERVIEW

The Central District consists of the North Central Community, the Heritage Community, and the Downtown Core. This geographic area includes Evraz Place, the Mosaic Stadium and Victoria Park. This District is divided into two patrol zones; the North Central zone, and the South Central zone. These zones are further sub-divided into smaller areas or 'atoms'. Members assigned to the Central District are assigned to each zone and are designated atoms in order to enhance geographic ownership and provide more effective responses to calls for service and community concerns.

The Community Services Division (CSD) Central District is currently managed by one Inspector and one Staff Sergeant who are responsible for the administration of Central District members within (4) patrol shifts. The Inspector is also the Officer in Charge (OiC) of the North Central Community Service Centre located at the Albert Scott Centre and provides oversight to the South Central and downtown beat patrol.

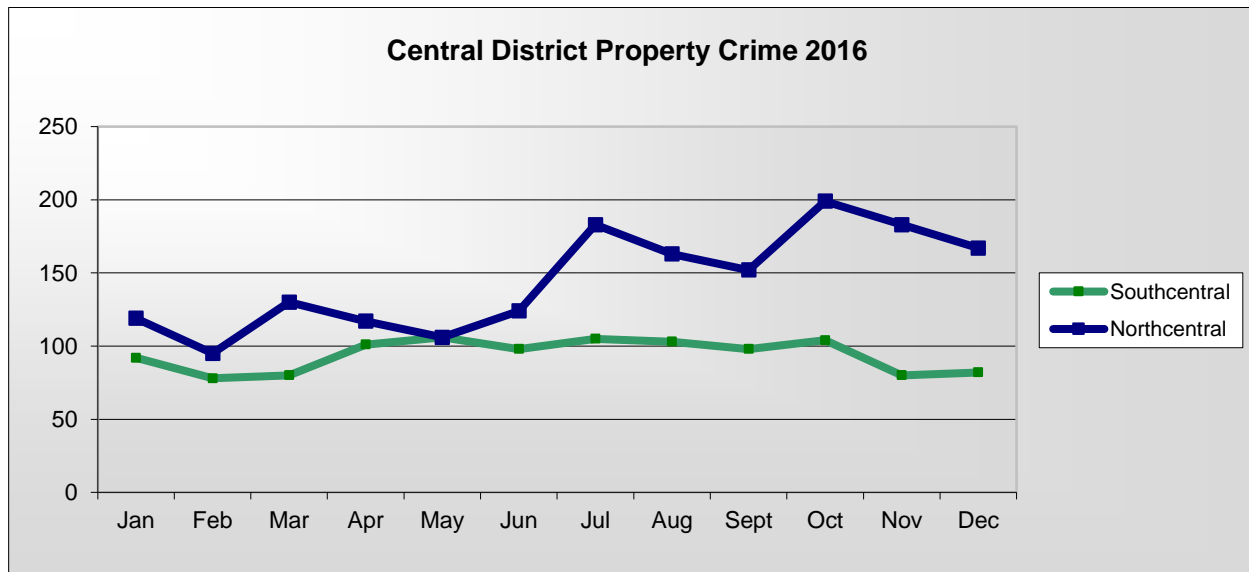

Central District Community Crime Report

The Regina Police Service Tactical Analysts collect and report crime data for each of the three Districts. This information is reported daily to the organization and is used to identify 'hot spots' of crime within the City. This information provides the Central District Staff Sgt. with an opportunity to develop responses and direct police resources to these areas. These community crime reports are primarily created through our police report database system (IEIS). This community crime report allows us to compare reported crimes against property and reported crimes against persons for the Central District. It also allows us to compare Central District reported crimes to the remainder of the city.

Crimes Against Property

In 2016 property crime in the Central District accounted for 21.9% of all reported property crime in the City of Regina. Of the two zones in the Central District, the North Central zone consistently reported the highest number of these violations, accounting for 60.6% of all property violations in the Central District.

PART B

COMMUNITY SERVICE CENTRE

In 2016 the Community Service Centre consisted of two alternate shifts. Each shift was comprised of six Constables, a Corporal and a Sergeant.

Central District Community Service Centre officers play a unique and diverse role in the Central District. These officers perform regular police duties (such as Patrol) but much of their responsibilities are focused on responding to current and emerging crime trends and implementing effective strategies to reduce Central District crime and victimization. Service Centre members participate in a number of community outreach programs and collaborate with community stakeholders to respond and resolve community concerns. They participate in high visibility police projects and proactive police functions within the Central District. Along with walking the beat and patrolling on bicycles, they are also responsible for operating the North Central Community Service Center office located at 1264 Athol Street. This community office allows the public to report incidents to police without having to travel outside of the North Central community.

In addition, these officers worked with over 36 community partners and attended over 100 community events including the FNUC Pow Wow, the Queen City Exhibition, and the celebration of National Aboriginal Day. They also developed responses and oversaw numerous problem solving initiatives aimed at reducing the number of police involved incidents (property crime, crimes against the person, prostitution, arsons, substandard housing in North Central, and incidents involving intoxicated persons).

In 2016, Service Centre members continued to take the lead in the Central District Crime Reduction Strategy (CDCRS). Developed in 2014 and implemented in 2015, the CDCRS continues to focus on improving community safety by reducing the levels and impacts of crime in Regina's core neighborhoods, including our city's downtown area.

CENTRAL DISTRICT BEAT

There are two Central District beat officers on each of the four patrol shifts for a total of eight officers. The Central District beat officers continue to work closely with a number of downtown partners including the Regina Downtown Business Improvement District (RBDID), the Cornwall Center, and the Regina Public Library. Officers met with RBDID staff regularly and attended a number of RBDID events including Cinema under the Stars and the Farmers Market. Beat officers participated in high visibility police work and proactive activities and conducted a large percentage of their work on foot or bicycles.

CONCLUSION

Sound and healthy relationships with the North Central Community, the South Central Community, and our downtown business district are critical in building and maintaining community well-being and a strong sense of safety. The Central District takes pride in the efforts that are made to organize and partake in Central District events such as Community Cop Day, Showcase, and many others. In 2016 officers assigned to the Central District reached out to organizations such as Street Culture, Carmichael Outreach, and All Nations Hope. They attended the FNUC Pow Wow at the Brandt Centre and the annual Tamra Keepness BBQ and were responsive to protests and demonstrations in the District, including Colonialism No More. The Regina Police Service, including the members working the Central District and our community partners, remain committed to improving public safety within these communities.

CENTRAL OPERATIONS SECTION OVERVIEW

In 2016, the Regina Police Service (RPS) Community Services Division (CSD) was led by Superintendent Corey Zaharuk. The Central Operations Section (COS), under the direction of Inspector Darrin McKechnie, operated within this Division. The Staff Sergeant in charge of COS was Staff Sergeant Audra Young.

COS provides specialized police support units within the Service. COS is made up of police members and civilian employees who are assigned to the Section in both full and part-time capacities. Full time assignments within the Section are in the Canine Unit, Central Services, Communication Centre & 9-1-1 Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP), and within the Detention Facility. Full-time positions also include an Emergency Services Sergeant, six Victim Services Responders (plus volunteers), and other support personnel throughout the Section. In addition to performing their regular duties elsewhere within the Service, police members serving on emergency services teams work within the Section on a part-time and 'as needed' basis. The Section further relies upon contracted Commissionaires for building attendants, operational support, and process service positions.

In 2016, the Section operated within nine significant support areas with approximately 190 full and part time assigned members and employees. This does not include the contracted positions and volunteers. Those areas included:

- Special Event Planning & Operational Deployments (Integrated VIP security details and special duty policing for sporting, traffic and other events);
- Canine Unit;
- Central Services (Inquiry Desk, Court Liaison, Court Scheduling, Alternative Measures Program Coordinator);
- Commissionaires (contracted process servers, building attendants and operational support personnel);
- Communication Centre and 9-1-1 PSAP (Public Safety Answering Point - providing police, EMS, and fire call taking, answer and transfer services; including the ability to operate as a secondary provincial dispatch centre to support other communication centres within Saskatchewan);
- Detention Facility (offender processing, lodging and transfers);
- Emergency Services Section
 - SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics)
 - CNT (Crisis Negotiation Team)
 - EDU (Explosive Disposal Unit)
 - CCU (Crowd Control Unit)
 - UIRT (Underwater Investigative Recovery Team)
- Emergency Preparedness Planning;
- Victim Services.

CENTRAL SERVICES

Inquiry Desk

The Inquiry Desk in the RPS headquarters building serves between 400 – 500 people per week. This includes: walk-in reports, complaints, inquiries, offender reporting, collision reporting, investigative follow-up, telephone inquiries and warrant executions.

In 2016, oversight at the Desk included a Sergeant and Corporal. During each shift, three officers, including the supervising Corporal, are on duty. The average wait time for a customer is estimated to be about ten minutes. In 2016 two relief Sgt. positions were added. Both Sergeants were assigned to the Inquiry Desk and Detention in a relief capacity.

In 2016 a total of 21,913 people attended the Inquiry Desk. The Inquiry Desk also received 6,687 phone calls from the public. Lastly, the Inquiry Desk staff executed 905 warrants.

Court Liaison Officer

The RPS Court Liaison Officer (CLO) is a Corporal position. The CLO works out of the Provincial Court House at 1815 Smith Street and fields enquiries from lawyers, other police officers, and members of the judiciary, and disseminates information to prosecutors as required. The CLO works closely with Court Services as well by managing, distributing and ensuring judicial and other documents are completed and tracked. The CLO responds to prosecutor requests, and ensures appropriate procedures are followed when property is seized or detained in court.

Regina Alternative Measures Program (RAMP) and Court Scheduling Coordinator

Alternative measures programs “...provide individuals who are accused of committing a Criminal Code offence an opportunity to make reparation to victims and their community (Ministry of Justice, 2014).” RAMP creates an opportunity for collaborative community participation within a restorative justice model through responsive, proactive processes that seek to increase offender accountability, promote the involvement of others in solutions, protect the community, and resolve conflict where appropriate.

Alternative measures and extra judicial sanctions are legislated within the Criminal Code while the Program is administered provincially by the Ministry of Justice through the Regina Aboriginal Human Services Co-op and their affiliated organizations. The RPS plays a key role in the process. Under set circumstances, police officers have the ability to divert pre-charge cases to the RAMP once eligibility criteria can be established.

The RPS has an assigned a RAMP Coordinator, in the rank of Corporal. In 2016, this Corporal provided Alternative Measures training to other officers; reviewed program referrals and confirmed that certain eligibility criteria had been established. In addition to administering the police role within the Program, the Corporal coordinated other RPS involvement in various processes. In 2016, RPS officers attended Alternative Measures Circles, mediations, forums and or conferences on 31 occasions.

As part of administering the police role, the RAMP Coordinator provides training at the “Stop-lift” program. The Coordinator and the Inquiry Desk Supervisor also facilitated 11 Stop-Lift Presentations in 2016. Each one of these presentations was attended by approximately 10-20 candidates. The Coordinator also works closely with the Loss Prevention Officers throughout the city. The Coordinator conducts their training sessions and meets with them as a group on a regular basis.

Corps of Commissionaires

The Corps of Commissionaires mainly work in two areas of the RPS building; the front desk and the equipment room. They provide an invaluable service to our members and the citizens of Regina.

Communication Centre

The RPS Communication Centre is the Service’s vital link to providing public safety within the City and throughout the Province. The Communications Centre serves as an initial public communication access point and is staffed by civilian Communication Officers (CO). Other positions include a Communications Manager, Communications Administrator, an Alarm Coordinator/Switchboard Operator, a Quality Assurance and Training Coordinator, a Radio Coordinator, two Communication Technologists and as of April 2016, a dedicated Business Analyst.

The CO supports, prioritizes and coordinates the deployment of police resources in our community. In addition, the Communications Centre also serves as a 9-1-1 Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP) providing police, EMS, and fire call taking, answering and transfer services. The Province has three primary PSAP’s, located in Regina, Prince Albert and Saskatoon and with the upgrade of the telephone system, each PSAP now serves as a failover answering point should telephone call load exceed answer time standards.

In 2016, the RPS implemented the final stage of the Viper phone system adding important technological advances to the environment. Communication Officers are now able to utilize Text-to-911 for the hearing impaired, track telephone call history and receive current location updates/changes on cellular phone calls.

In October, the priority system that had been in place since 2015 was revamped and changes to the Computer Aided Dispatch (CAD) system were implemented. These changes allow for better statistical collection and also streamline the dispatch and response matrix.

In 2016 the RPS Communication Officers entered and dispatched 60,969 calls for service, answered 170,687 administrative telephone calls and 70,246 9-1-1 calls.

Detention

The Detention Unit hours of work follow the 12 hour rotations of four different shifts. Each shift has a Sergeant and two Special Constables who oversee the Detention Facility. To facilitate proper relief of the staff two relief Sgt. positions were added. These two members split their time between the Detention Unit and the Inquiry Desk in a relieving capacity. In 2016 Detention staff lodged and processed 8,835 offenders. The following is a breakdown of the demographics of these offenders;

Total Prisoners:	8835
Female Prisoners:	2276
Male Prisoners:	6559
Total number Adult Prisoners:	7945
Total number Young Prisoners:	890
Intoxicated-Detention:	2107
Brief Detox Unit:	221

Where possible, arrested substance abusers or intoxicated persons were either left in the care of a responsible person or taken to the Regina Qu'Appelle Health Region's Brief Detox Unit. However, on many occasions, this alternative Detox Unit was full and unavailable. In some cases, the intoxicated arrestee was not eligible for lodging there. In 2016, there were a total of 2107 intoxicated persons arrested and lodged in in RPS cells.

In 2016, there were no serious injuries or deaths in the RPS Detention Unit. The Detention Unit did however deal with many persons who attempted to commit self-harm while in the Facility. Our members, through diligent safety practices, were able to intervene on all occasions.

Canine Unit

The RPS Canine Unit consists of 6 handlers and 7 dogs. The Unit provides canine support services to other patrol officers while responding to a variety of calls for service. The following is a breakdown of the stats for the Canine Unit in 2016:

Calls for Service:	5156
Handler Arrests:	137
Dog Arrests:	291 (38 or 13.05% of arrests resulted in contact)
Total Arrests:	428
Public Presentations:	40 in addition to K9 Cops for Kids and RPS Showcase

July of 2016 was a record month for the Canine Unit. The Unit tallied 52 dog arrests in the month of July- the most ever recorded in RPS history.

Individual and team achievements were many this year for our Canine Unit. Two Canine Officers attended the CPCA Dog Trials in September that was hosted by the Calgary Police Service. One Canine Officer and his Police Service Dog (PSD) finished 4th in Building Search and 1st in Area/Compound Search. The other officer and his PSD finished 1st in Article/Evidence Search.

Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT)

The SWAT team had a total of 22 deployments in 2016. The RCMP Tactical Armored Vehicle (TAV) was used in 10 of those deployments. There was also an additional 40 times throughout the year where SWAT members assisted patrol as their expertise was required, but these incidents did not necessitate a team call-out.

The team is required by policy to qualify on their weapons every month. Specialty Units within SWAT are also mandated to stay qualified on a yearly basis. The entire team trained 28 days in 2016.

Crisis Negotiation Team (CNT)

The CNT participated in 11 training days in 2016. Most members also attended the Upper Red River Conference and Competition in Grand Forks North Dakota. In 2017 the Regina Police Service CNT Team will host this conference. Negotiators attended to 19 calls in 2016. CNT members were placed inside the RCMP TAV in 5 of these calls in order to safely negotiate from a better vantage point.

Explosive Disposal Unit (EDU)

The EDU is called to incidents involving suspicious packages, military ordinance, suspicious substances, and hazardous materials. They are often called out in conjunction with other Emergency Services Teams as they have the capability to deploy their robots to assist SWAT in the delivery of items such as food, telephones etc. or to even search structures prior to entry.

The EDU participated in 18 training days and was deployed 16 times in 2016. Four of the calls for service involved a call-out, while others simply utilized the members who were on duty at the time.

Crowd Control Unit (CCU)

In 2016 the CCU continued to provide security and crowd management for all Saskatchewan Roughriders home games. In addition to attending to 10 regular and exhibition games, the CCU was also deployed in one test event (University Football game) at the new Mosaic Stadium. Over the course of the 10 games, the Unit attended to a total of 49 Calls for Service (CFS) resulting in a total of 4 arrests requiring transport and 8 individuals transported away from stadium via taxi voucher. This was up from a total of 26 CFS for previous year. The season saw mixed attendance, which had an impact on the CFS due to crowd levels. The final game of the year drew a sellout crowd and included pre-game, halftime and post-game festivities. This was the busiest game of the year for CCU.

The CCU also participated in 5 party patrol initiatives, providing resources to the front line during the busiest weekends of the year. This included Canada Day celebrations and New Year's Eve.

Training for the CCU consisted of 4 days.

Underwater Investigative Recovery Team (UIRT)

The UIRT participated in 22 days of training in 2016. The UIRT was not utilized for any calls for service in 2016.

Emergency Preparedness

The Emergency Services Section is administered by a Sergeant who oversees the daily operations of all Emergency Services Teams, coordinates their training and manages all related budgets. Emergency services personnel have participated in numerous initiatives, training scenarios and meetings in regards to emergency planning and preparedness.

VIP Detail

The RPS has VIP security experts who have been trained specifically in the proper procedures and protocols of providing oversight to high level dignitaries that visit Regina. In most instances, the lead security details are organized by the RCMP and the RPS provides resources at the RCMP's request. In 2016, the RPS facilitated the visits of the Royal Family and the Prime Minister.

VICTIM SERVICES UNIT

The Victim Services Unit (VSU) is made up of six full-time staff members. Four full-time permanent staff includes: one Coordinator, two Aboriginal Resource Officers and one Administrative Assistant. A Missing Persons Liaison Worker and Regina Children's Justice Centre (RCJC) Victim Services Responder are both full-time contract positions funded through federal and provincial partner agencies. In 2016, the Unit was supplemented by up to 13 Volunteer Support Workers who are community members that work 1 shift per week, for approximately 4 hours.

The primary responsibility of the VSU is to provide emotional support, practical information and referrals to community resources for longer term assistance. These services are provided to various victims/witnesses of crime or to people who have experienced a distressing/traumatic event. Services are provided shortly after the event occurs and continue until the criminal justice process has been completed or the person determines that services are no longer required. By feeling respected, the timely, consistent, long term response will ensure the likelihood of healthier coping skills that ultimately leads to healthier individuals for our community in the future.

Services that people receive are varied. They range from providing written information on trauma, self-care, personal safety and crime prevention tips. They can also include ongoing telephone contact, explanations of investigative or court processes, assistance with victim impact statements, victims compensation, restitution, alternative measures programs, Parole Board information, regular court updates, court accompaniments, registrations for court preparation class or the specialized court service for vulnerable witnesses, and assistance with property returns. These are examples of the many services offered. Ultimately, what is required can be as unique as the individuals being served.

Over the past year the Missing Persons Liaison Worker has worked diligently to assist the families of Missing and Murdered Aboriginal Women and Girls.

In 2016, the VSU opened a total of 1,525 files, resulting in 7,920 personal contacts and 162 court accompaniments. There were a total of 987 Volunteer Support Worker hours provided over the course of the year.

Whether services are provided through face to face contact or by telephone, postal service, e-mail, or texting, the VSU is firmly established to assist the RPS in delivering a helpful response to its citizens.

Re: Street Checks

RECOMMENDATION

That this report be received and filed.

RECOMMENDATION

This report be received and filed.

CONCLUSION

The RPS currently instructs its officers to ensure the following factors are present when conducting a street check:

- During the interaction officer communication must be respectful and professional. The interaction must serve to maintain trust;
- Officers are expected to communicate the reason for the interaction and be willing to disengage when voluntariness is no longer present and there is no basis for an investigative detention;
- The street check, and any resulting collection of information, must be consistent with the Charter and other applicable federal, provincial or municipal legislation;
- If the street check necessitates a lawful investigative detention or arrest, reasonable suspicion or reasonable and probable grounds must be present and clearly articulated.

The Saskatchewan Police Commission has reviewed the practice of street checks through a provincially consultative process and has drafted a street check policy and regulations for municipal police in this province. This policy is expected to be finalized, and implemented this fall. The RPS will complete and implement a street check policy that is consistent with the direction from the Saskatchewan Police Commission, once that direction is received. The Saskatchewan Police Commission's direction will be shared with the public through a Board of Police Commissioner's Meeting.

BACKGROUND

In recent years, the Canadian police practice of conducting 'street checks' or 'carding' has faced increased scrutiny. The two terms are often used interchangeably and describe interactions where police approach and initiate contact with people for the purpose of gathering information.

The RPS views street checks and carding as two distinct and very different practices. Carding means gathering personal information on a person or group of people for the purpose of building a police data base whether or not a specific investigation is taking place. The RPS does not believe in or practice carding. The RPS views street checks as simply a community interaction or dialogue. The RPS does not currently require officers to record street check interactions within our records management system unless that interaction is part of a specific investigation.

Throughout Canada, street checks have also become increasingly controversial largely in part to how they are defined differently by many police organizations. These stops have been viewed by some as seemingly random, racially biased and often done without reasonable cause. In addition, in some jurisdictions, information collected during these interactions has been improperly disclosed during police background checks. Street checks have also created tension between police and some individuals within marginalized communities where the stops are more likely to occur.

Steps to regulate police actions around street checks are still evolving across Canada. Recently, the Province of Ontario's Police Services Act, 1990 outlined a street check regulatory framework called Collection of Identifying Information in Certain Circumstances – Prohibition & Duties that took effect in January 2017¹. Ontario is the first Canadian province to provide a statutory framework. In an effort to eliminate real or perceived bias, these regulations:

- Ban police from randomly stopping people to collect information;
- Require police to comply with new rules around voluntary police-public interactions and inform those they stop that they have a right to not give their personal information; and
- Require records and statistics to be kept on both attempted and completed street check interactions. Information about these stops including age, race, and gender will be reported annually.

DISCUSSION

The Saskatchewan Police Commission is currently reviewing the final draft of a provincial policy on the practice of street checks. This policy will provide municipal police services with regulations on how to deal with street checks, and will hopefully be finalized by the fall of 2017. Through early discussions and consultation, we understand the Commission will outline circumstances which should be considered and which may give rise to a reasonable suspicion or concern. We will await the Commission's final report and recommendations and ensure our policy reflects the direction given.

Over the past couple years there have been small-group demonstrations in Regina that in part advocate for the elimination of street checks by the RPS. Police chiefs and police association leaders across the country have argued that when done properly, street checks are legal and necessary to ensure community safety. Street checks, when conducted properly, provide police a valuable tool that can effectively prevent and solve crime and enhance community safety. This can only occur, however, when members ensure their actions meet community expectations and legal requirements and safeguard police legitimacy and public confidence and trust.

As previously reported to the Board of Police Commissioners, in 2013 and again in 2015, the RPS has received very favourable report cards from residents through the Community Perceptions Survey. Residents also told us where we can improve. In part, they told us that they wanted to see more police visibility, more officers, more patrols in high crime areas, and more enforcement.² In 2015 we expanded our proactive policing efforts and increased police visibility in areas where higher rates of victimization and calls for service were happening. This was reported to the Board in May of 2015, in a report titled Proactive Policing Initiatives (P15-10). This report described our renewed approach in anticipating and preventing crime and disorder while at the same time increasing police visibility in areas where repetitive incidents and calls for service are happening. This increase in visibility often includes increased interaction with people living in the community. These interactions include street checks, traffic stops, home visits, providing crime prevention advice and presentations, victim and vulnerable person follow-ups, problem-solving meetings, and specific efforts and interactions to manage known offenders.

Within our 2015-2018 Strategic Plan new priorities and objectives were established. These include increasing police visibility and presence in neighbourhoods and expanding our capacity for community policing and proactive initiatives³. The RPS continues to engage in proactive policing initiatives that are evidence-based, and intended to reduce and prevent continued incidents, escalating criminal conduct and serious offences from being committed. As part of this approach, we encourage our officers to increase their interactions with people including street check interactions when appropriate.

Given our concerted effort to increase all community interactions, including street checks, we reviewed our street check practices and provided additional training to front-line officers through our annual Block Training. All front-line officers received refresher training on how to appropriately conduct street checks. This included emphasis on appropriate communication strategies that serve to maintain trust and foster positive, professional relationships in the community. The communication training focused on the officer's demeanour, verbal communication and willingness to disengage when needed. In addition, to fully understand their legal obligations, all officers received further training on investigative detention and the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, with particular emphasis on sections 7 to 11 (which are the sections most relevant to police).

Regina Police Service Not at all. The buscop project is only for the traffic safety unit and isn't run full time (so the unit has lots of time for other projects). There are units on property crimes, crimes against persons, auto theft, drugs, gangs, and on patrol. We're everywhere.

Today my alarm went off and one of your officers responded with in about 10-15 minutes, I think this is actually the first time some one has actually responded, although it was a false alarm and the alarm company phoned the wrong contact number I do appreciate the fast response today and thought I would let you guys know I appreciated it. To many times people are quick to out line the negative things about RPS so I thought it would be nice to show some appreciation. So thank you again.

A huge thank you to the male officer who was driving the police suv number 50 today.. my son asked for a tattoo when he saw him sitting at the corner of the street and the officer did not have any on him but told my son he would go to the station and get a few and come to our house and drop them off. and sure enough he did.. He truly made my sons day! Thank you.

This is "Willamina". (She is approximately 7ft tall and weighs ~500lbs!) She has come on a long journey, unwillingly, all the way from the Prince Albert area to Regina. Willamina's kidnapper tried to sell her online, but lucky for her, our officers saved the day and rescued her. We are happy to report that Willamina will be going home to her rightful owner/creator soon.

Great job PADS Intervention K9 Merlot for helping children feel safe when giving interviews about some of the darkest times in their lives. You help make the world a better, safer place.

Merlot and her partner Sgt Froh work out of the Regina Children's Justice Centre, and mainly conduct interviews with youth who have experienced sexual abuse or other forms of trauma. Having Merlot there helps to somewhat comfort the children. Dogs are amazing creatures. 🐶 reginapolice @brookecostley90 one of many messages. For some, they don't realize the reality that they too can get into a traffic collision. (Those who think they're perfect drivers) ya_nomi_wes Is it illegal to have your phone on your lap while your driving?

stacey_d78 That's awesome. Good fork

reginapolice @ya_nomi_wes if you're holding it and looking at it/using it then yes. Best bet is to just leave it in your pocket/purse/cupholder/etc
